

INDIGENOUS EDUCATION IN MARYLAND'S LOWER EASTERN SHORE

Sponsored by: Maryland State Archives

K-12 teachers, museum educators & librarians

Tuesday, August 1st - Friday, August 4th

Edward H. Nabb Research Center, Salisbury University

Indigenous leaders & representatives from the Nause-Waiwash Band of Indians, & Pocomoke Indian Nation will share about their cultures to provide educators with present-day context. Educators will tour local heritage sites & learn about resources for teaching about local Native Peoples from cultural heritage professionals & the National Museum of the American Indian.

Participants who successfully complete course requirements will earn three continuing professional education credits approved by MDSE. Tuition is offered at no cost.

To Apply: (by midnight on June 18th)
<https://forms.gle/kyn8Q4nnUbXttKeE8>

Maryland State Archives is grateful for the grant support of the Maryland Heritage Areas Authority, the Heart of Chesapeake Country Heritage Area, and Beach to Bay Heritage Area.

